HUAIYANG CUISINE

One of the four major Chinese culinary traditions, Su cuisine is also one of the four representative dishes of the Huaiyang cuisine, originating from Yangzhou and Huai'an. The cuisine is deeply rooted in the characteristics of the Huai and Yang regions. The main ingredients are often aquatic products featuring river and lake fish and other fresh ingredients. Huaiyang cuisine is supported by top-notch culinary techniques, emphasizing the preservation of natural flavours and colours, while striving to cater to a wide range of tastes.

When it comes to cooking techniques, Huaiyang cuisine is skilled in controlling heat and focusing on fire control. Typical methods of cooking include stewing, braising, simmering, steaming, roasting, and stir-frying.
